FACT SHEET ON INVESTOR–STATE DISPUTE SETTLEMENT CASES IN 2018

H I G H L I G H T S

- At least 71 treaty-based investor–State dispute settlement (ISDS) cases were initiated in 2018 (figure 1), all but one under old-generation treaties signed before 2012.
- As of 1 January 2019, the total number of known ISDS cases pursuant to international investment agreements (IIAs) had reached 942. To date, 117 countries are known to have been respondents to one or more ISDS claims.
- The new ISDS cases in 2018 were initiated against 41 countries. As in previous years, the majority of new cases were brought against developing countries and transition economies. Developed-country investors brought most of the 71 known cases.
- UNCTAD's World Investment Report 2019 (chapter III), to be launched on 12 June 2019, reviews reform-oriented provisions and new approaches to ISDS in IIAs signed in 2018 (Phase 1 of IIA Reform). It also analyses countries' reform actions to tackle old-generation treaties (Phase 2).

Note: Information has been compiled from public sources, including specialized reporting services. UNCTAD's statistics do not cover investor–State cases that are based exclusively on investment contracts (State contracts) or national investment laws, or cases in which a party has signaled its intention to submit a claim to ISDS but has not commenced the arbitration. Annual and cumulative case numbers are continually adjusted as a result of verification processes and may not match exactly case numbers reported in previous years.

1. Trends in ISDS: new cases and outcomes

(i) New cases initiated in 2018

In 2018, investors initiated 71 publicly known ISDS cases pursuant to IIAs (figure 1), a number nearly as high as in the previous three years. As of 1 January 2019, the total number of publicly known ISDS claims had reached 942. To date, 117 countries are known to have been respondents to one or more ISDS claims. As some arbitrations can be kept fully confidential, the actual number of disputes filed in 2018 and previous years is likely to be higher.

Respondent States

The new ISDS cases in 2018 were initiated against 41 countries. Colombia was the most frequent respondent, with six known cases, followed by Spain with five. Three economies – Belarus, Qatar and Rwanda – faced their first known ISDS claim. As in previous years, the majority of new cases were brought against developing countries and transition economies. Overall, Argentina, Spain and Venezuela have received the largest share of claims over the years (figure 2).

Claimant home States

Developed-country investors brought most of the 71 known cases in 2018. The highest numbers of cases were brought by investors from the United States and the Russian Federation, with 15 and six cases respectively. Of all known cases, investors from the United States, the Netherlands and the United Kingdom have filed the largest shares (figure 3).

Intra-EU disputes

Less than 10 per cent of the 71 known cases filed in 2018 were intra-EU disputes (six cases), down from the historical average of 20 per cent. Four of these six disputes were brought on the basis of the Energy Charter Treaty; the remaining two invoked intra-EU BITs. The overall number of known arbitrations initiated by an investor from one EU member State against another totalled 178 at the end of 2018.

The decrease in intra-EU disputes has to be seen in the context of recent EU-level developments related to the Achmea case. EU member States' declarations on the (in)applicability of intra-EU BITs and the Energy Charter Treaty (to intra-EU relations), as well as related BIT termination actions, are likely to greatly reduce and eventually eliminate new treaty-based intra-EU disputes.¹

Applicable investment treaties

About 60 per cent of investment arbitrations in 2018 were brought under BITs and TIPs originally signed in the 1990s or earlier. The remaining cases were based on treaties signed between 2000 and 2011, except for one case that was based solely on a later treaty (Manilium Processing v. Belarus). The Energy Charter Treaty (1994) was the IIA invoked most frequently in 2018 (with seven cases), followed by the Canada–Colombia FTA (2008), the Republic of Korea–United States FTA (2007) and the Treaty on the Eurasian Economic Union (2014), with three cases each. Looking at the overall trend, about 20 per cent of the 942 known cases have invoked the Energy Charter Treaty (121 cases) or the North American Free Trade agreement (NAFTA) (63 cases).

Economic sectors involved

About two thirds of the cases filed in 2018 related to activities in the services sector:

- Construction (12 cases)
- Supply of electricity, gas, steam and air (10 cases)
- Financial and insurance services (nine cases)
- Information and communication (eight cases)
- Real estate (four cases)
- Transportation and storage (three cases)

Primary industries accounted for 18 per cent of the new cases and manufacturing for 8 per cent; no sector data are available for the remaining cases (8 per cent).

¹ Following up on the legal consequences of the Achmea ruling, EU member States issued declarations in January 2019 that set a timeline for the termination of intra-EU BITs by 6 December 2019.

Measures challenged

Investors in 2018 most frequently challenged the following types of State conduct:

- Alleged takeover, seizure or nationalization of investments (at least 12 cases)
- Termination, non-renewal or alleged interference with contracts or concessions (at least 12 cases)
- Alleged harassment by State authorities, improper criminal prosecution (including on fraud, corruption, money laundering or financing of terrorism charges) or wrongful detention or imprisonment (at least seven cases)
- Placement under administration and other actions allegedly resulting in bankruptcy or liquidation (at least five cases)
- Revocation or denial of licences or permits (at least five cases)
- Legislative reforms in the renewable energy sector (at least three cases)
- Alleged failure to exercise financial oversight functions over publicly listed companies (at least three cases)
- Alleged failure to address civil strikes and local community protests (at least two cases)

Amounts claimed

Where information regarding the amounts sought by investors has been disclosed (in about half of the new cases), the reported amounts claimed range from $3 million (Seo v. Republic of Korea) to $15 billion (International Holding Project Group and others v. Egypt).

(ii) ISDS outcomes

Decisions and outcomes in 2018

In 2018, ISDS tribunals rendered at least 50 substantive decisions in investor–State disputes, 29 of which are in the public domain (at the time of writing). Of these public decisions, most – about 70 per cent – were decided in favour of the investor, either on jurisdictional grounds or on the merits.

Eight decisions (including rulings on preliminary objections) principally addressed jurisdictional issues, with six upholding the tribunal’s jurisdiction and two denying jurisdiction.

Sixteen decisions on the merits were rendered, with 11 accepting at least some investor claims and 5 dismissing all the claims. In the decisions holding the State liable, tribunals most frequently found breaches of the fair and equitable treatment provision.

In addition, five publicly known decisions were rendered in annulment proceedings at the International Centre for Settlement of Investment Disputes (ICSID). Ad hoc committees of ICSID rejected the applications for annulment in all five cases.

Overall outcomes

By the end of 2018, some 602 ISDS proceedings had been concluded. The relative share of case outcomes changed only slightly from that in previous years (figure 4). About 36 per cent of all concluded cases were decided in favour of the State (claims were dismissed either on jurisdictional grounds or on the merits), and about 29 per cent were decided in favour of the investor, with monetary compensation awarded. A quarter of the cases were settled; in most cases, the terms of settlement remained confidential. In the remaining proceedings, either the cases were discontinued or the tribunal found a treaty breach but did not award monetary compensation.

Of the cases that were resolved in favour of the State, about half were dismissed for lack of jurisdiction. Looking at the totality of decisions on the merits (i.e. where a tribunal determined whether the challenged measure breached any of the IIA’s substantive obligations), about 60 per cent were decided in favour of the investor and the remainder in favour of the State (figure 5).

Note: Excludes cases (i) dismissed by tribunals for lack of jurisdiction, (ii) settled, (iii) discontinued for reasons other than settlement (or for unknown reasons) and (iv) decided in favour of neither party (liability found but no damages awarded).

Appointments of arbitrators

Some 537 people have been appointed as arbitrators in the 942 known ISDS cases (original proceedings). About half have served on more than one known case, and 14 have been appointed to more than 30 cases each (figure 6). Many of those most frequently appointed are currently serving on more than 10 pending treaty-based ISDS cases.
